

EVERYTHING FROM SNEAK PEEKS, CLASSIC TREATS, & OGEEZ! MYSTIQUE

REVEAL NEARS ON MYSTERY SUMMER FLAVOR

By Jada R. Flower

This summer is about to get a lot hotter with a new gummy that is expected to rock the seasonal-flavor landscape.

Mystery is mounting around a new limited-edition gummy, which OGeez! is launching on June 21. The gummy will only be available through the summer.

Sports Book operators throughout Arizona told The Dispatch that customers were flooding in to place bets on what the new flavor will be.

“Wagers are at an all-time high,” said one commissioner at the Arizona Department of Gaming. “The number of bets on OGeez’s summer flavor is about to surpass the numbers we’re seeing for all other sports teams combined.”

OGEEZ! TO ANNOUNCE SECRET SEASONAL GUMMY ON FIRST DAY OF SUMMER

One OGeez! groupie said she is considering wagering her four-bedroom Scottsdale home because she is so confident that the new flavor is going to be mango. But others were just as adamant in their guesses of kiwi, pineapple and pina colada.

OGeez! officials said they’ve been through thousands of rounds of taste-testing and that the new flavor will have major consequences for the seasonal-flavoring industry.

“The stakes are high,” said a source inside the company. “All I can say is that this flavor will be memorable.”

PARTY ALERT!

Bust out your swimsuit and sunscreen. OGeez! is partnering with Maya Day Club in Scottsdale to add some serious flavor to one of Arizona’s top pool-party destinations this summer. Party-goers at the events — which will feature some of the area’s best DJs — can look forward to a special OGeez! summer-inspired cocktail, complete with a non-medicated gummy garnish, plus OGeez! giveaways and a pool adorned with OGeez! floaties. Guests will also receive a token for a complimentary bag of OGeez! gummies at a dispensary that will be announced before the first party. The OGeez! summer takeovers will take place on June 25, July 30 and August 20 and the OGeez! signature cocktail will be available at Maya all summer. Stay tuned for more details!

- The Dispatch Staff

Split Decision

Fruits and Creams both claim wins in Gummyville Municipal Court

By Maxwell J. Flayvor

The Fruits and the Creams each walked away with a “mini” victory from their hearing in Gummyville Municipal Court last month.

Judge Carol Joint denied the Creams request for a preliminary injunction to stop OGeez! from rolling out the mini in tropical — a fruit flavor, rather than a cream. But the judge mandated OGeez! to introduce the mini to the Arizona market in a cream within the next 18 months.

“There’s high demand for these minis in a variety of flavors,” Judge Joint stated in her 386-page ruling. “While the Creams presented a strong case, there is no legal precedent for this court to deny the public the tremendous benefits of a delicious tropical mini flavor, but public opinion clearly shows that a cream is needed, too.”

A Fruit union official with Local 420 said only that the Fruits were “pleased” with the ruling. A representative for the Creams said that while they respected Judge Joint’s decision that they would consider appealing to Gummyville’s Sixteenth Circuit to obtain the injunction.

Meanwhile, OGeez! executives announced a five-point plan to smooth over relations between the Fruits and the Creams. “They are both delicious flavor profiles,” an OGeez! spokesperson said. “If they join forces the possibilities are endless.”

“There’s high demand for these minis in a variety of flavors.”

- Judge Carol Joint

OGeez! Fun Fact

Ever wonder where the first bong came from? We can assure you it was not the smoke shop down the street. A 2013 excavation in Eastern Europe found golden bongs dating back 2,400 years that were reportedly used by Scythian tribal chiefs, according to Wikipedia. Before that recent discovery, the earliest known bongs were from 1,000-plus years ago. There’s also evidence of water pipes being invented in China during the 16th century and spreading via the Silk Road. The word “bong” comes from the Thai word “buang,” which refers to bamboo bongs.

Spotlight on an OGeez's Super Fan

Mary K. Jane is the co-founder and president of the Arizona branch of the OGeez! Fan Club. The group, which launched six months ago, has 22.2 million dues-paying members and enrollment is climbing fast. The Dispatch sat down with Ms. Jane last month.

Why did you start the OGeez Fan Club?

I spent the last 25 years traveling the world taste testing gummies and other edibles and couldn't believe it when I discovered OGeez. I had never experienced anything like it before. The flavors were ridiculously awesome and the impact of the gummy left me with a new view of my life and the world.

How many gummies do you buy per month?

On average, I personally purchase about 3,000 bags of gummies per month. But my top resolution for 2023 will be to increase that to 5,000 bags per month.

Where do you buy your OGeez?

I like to spread the love to dispensaries throughout Arizona. Next month, our chapter of the OGeez! Fan Club is actually leading a dispensary road trip. We have 6.2 million members signed up so far and we're going to hit every dispensary that carries OGeez! in Arizona. Our itinerary is being finalized now. Dispensaries are already stocking up in anticipation. We'll be traveling in a caravan of cars covered in OGeez! stickers. You won't miss us!

OGEEZ HISTORY

Calvin OGeez — Candie's son and another descendant of company founder, Cremiline — made a life-changing decision in June 1956. Calvin, who was 20 years old at the time, was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology double majoring in flavor profiling and gelatin science with the intention of going into the family business. But in June 1956, when he heard

Elvis Presley's "Heartbreak Hotel," the musician's first major hit, he changed course. Despite Candie's best efforts to convince him otherwise, Calvin decided to take up the guitar and try his hand at songwriting. While he never established a following in the United States, he became a local musical celebrity in Jamaica and had a major influence on Bob Marley
-The Dispatch Staff.

The Activity page

OGeez! Drops

"Eating 10 at a time probably isn't considered 'Mirco-dosing'..."

Follow
the Flavor
@ogeezbrands

SIGN-UP FOR ALL THINGS
OGEEZ!

